

LEONARDO DANIEL REGALADO ZÚÑIGA

SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

PERFIL

I have been a programmer filled with commitment and discipline, with the ease of working on my own, both being part of some technology events and interested in the latest trends in my area of knowledge. I have been looking for other activities in order to improve my career and personal development, trying to do better with the purpose of establishing a real difference in the workspaces where I have been in.

EXPERIENCE

Backend developer June, 2022

I participated in a school presentation, named Expobatiz, in the last period of my prep-university college, on a system made for teaching and allowing students to build flowcharts. I was in charge of the connection logic between the backend and the database using Java.

Google Cloud Computing Foundations Certificate

I'm obtaining the fundamental Google Cloud certificate, directed by NEBURSATURN ACADEMY. This path guide is composed of on-demand courses, labs, and skill badges.

IBM TECHNICAL SALES INTERNSHIP May, 2025 - currently

As an intern developer, I was first trained in the IA, Data, Cloud and Security IBM portfolio, and the complete technology stack of the software solution, and several opportunities driven by the current secure software demand.

● Ecosystems' specialization role

As part of the cloud team, I'm gaining hands-on experience with container-based architecture components, diving into the different elements of container-based architectures and cloud resource management.
